Hobbies

- I have a real interest in movies, documentaries and independant comic books. I contributed to two blogs about urban music and video games over a considerable period of time
- I practise sport often and I rarely miss a match involving the French football team. I also enjoy hiking
- I like good food (especially wine, cheese, meat) and good products
- I like to take care of children of all ages
- I am passionate about American writers and I have recently rediscovered the French classics
