I first became interested in photography around 4 years ago, I began by teaching myself the basic techniques, after some time I decided I wanted to take my education in photography further so I enrolled in a night class at West College Scotland, through doing these classes I decided I wanted to continue along this path so I applied for HND Photography at City of Glasgow College which I completed in 2016. This gave me a good foundation in a number of areas of photography such as fashion, portraiture, architecture, documentary, automotive and advertising.
